Mrs. Cobb, the Pardon Broker.

VASHINGTON, March 4th.—At noon to-day historic characters disappeared for a time m public view—Andrew Johnson and Mrs. bb The one threatens to come back to United States Senate from Tennessee, and return will probably be the signal for the urn of the woman who has been made famous by his Administration Pending her nporary retirement, it may be interesting know how she looked when she disappeared. Don Piatt speaks of seeing her recently, and says: "I was surprised to find at she was fair to look on, and by no means rried in her countenance a justification of attacks of a venal press She stood fore me in the new cash room of the Treasy building, where the inauguration ball is be held, and I saw a lady in an elegant alking dress, with the colors artistically ended; of full, well rounded, but admiray proportioned figure; eyes black and flashg, hair chestnut brown and abundant and arrying over all the evidences of twenty ears' experiences in this breathing world ours. And what experiences they have een."

Do you know that a woman can give herelf up to all manner of wickedness, and if he abstains from drink, late hours and inigestible meals, can yet carry on her counteance all the freshness, innocence and simlicity of childhood? A man cannot do this. Then he gives himself up to the evil one, is devilish owner brands him all over—espeally on the face. The dark ugly thoughts ome out in his expression, as mystical riting appears when held in the sun or bere a fire.

I do not mean to say by this that the famous Mrs. Cobb is a wicked woman. Far be from me to [illegible] such a thing. But what I do say is that her face gives the ie to the popular belief. It is not a bad face; n contrary, it is a good face. And how came t to be considered at all?

The story runs that soon after his Accilency went into the White House, he was aken, or pretended to be taken, with a panic. He feared [illegible]tion, and prepared a request to the Secretary of War to furnish the White House wi[illegible] to pre[illegible] some Democrat from murdering him. The rough but wily Secretary, whose knowledge of human [illegible] enabled him to look Andrew hrough, immediately complied. That familar Baker was called up, and instructed to put a guard of detectives around the Executive [illegible] on so no evil-minded Democrat rat or other secessionist could go in an knock our Radical President in the head. "And," added the Secretary, "let the detectives be shrewd men, and note all who go in and come out, and make the same in writing, and report every twenty-four hours to the Department."

The orders were carried out, and soon some curious developments were made. All sorts of characters, male and female, were found on [illegible] terms with Accidency, all sorts of hours, and among these came up the name of Cobb—Mrs Cobb. "Let me know who this Cobb is," demanded the Secretary, and in eight hours answer came back, "Pardon-broker." So, [illegible], the familiar set a trap for Mrs. Cobb and the Presidential Casuality called Andrew Johnson. A detective, [illegible] in rebel array called on Mrs. Cobb and offered her $300 for the President's signature to a pardon. The next day the pardon was produced, duly signed, and almost before the ink was dry the document was under the nose of the President.

"What does this mean?" cried Andrew.

"Don't know," replied the Carnot who organized victory. "Is it your signature?"

"It is," roared Andrew, "and I want it investigated."

That was what the Carnot who organized victory wanted, and that night Mr. and Mrs. Cobb are seized in the frugal couch, and all their papers and the $300 aforesaid captured and receipted, and an active prosecution began.

[illegible] was too heavy for Andrew. He [illegible] to the aid of Mrs. Cobb. He pardoned her [illegible], and the indignant dame, thus backed, [illegible] Baker. The Chief Detective went to prison, while Cobb went at large. He sent for pen, ink and paper, and, employing a dexterous pen began a history of [illegible] days as detective in the Executive Mansion. Andrew hearing this took another panic, and ordered Baker to be re[illegible].

And all of this the world has heard, and all of this went to make the Cobb famous. I am [illegible] that if the grim and taciturn Stanton, late the Carnot who organized victory, saw fit, he could give to the world yet more entertaining matter than that of the Cobb [illegible] to light and put to record during the sixty days when the detectives held watch on the White House night and day, that the inebriated Andrew might be spared to his suffering country. It is said that the facts kept Andrew in cow, when in the course of events, his Accidency joined issue with the Secretary, and the first named dared not to haul the ugly customer from the place he made so [illegible]ble. I might believe this, was it not that I know the result can be traced to a more reasonable cause. [illegible] of Andrew went down before the iron will of the War Secretary, who had made himself the master of stronger men than the ex-Alderman of Tennessee.

WONDERFUL NATURAL PROVISION.—In the struggle for life which is going on perpetually throughout the whole of the animal creation, it is interesting to observe the wonderful provisions which Nature makes for the preservation of the weaker and more helpless animals. In many cases the color of the creature is adapted in a wonderful way to its mode of living and place of concealment, and contributes very materially to its safety. We, says the World of Wonders, know how difficult it is to distinguish the grasshopper from the leaf or blade whereon he sits, till he betrays himself by moving. The birds that sing in the hedgerows have feathers on their backs which harmonize with the color of the [illegible] about which they flit, while the feathers on their breast borrow their white hue of the clouds above them. The partridge can hardly be distinguished from the stubble where it makes its nest, while in the Northern countries, the Winter dress of the hare and ptarmigan is white, like the snow among which they are seen. The same is the case with the inhabitants of the water. The frogs, which live in the pools and muddy ditches, are known to vary their color according to the nature of the sand or mud among which they live. The tree frog, on the other hand, is green, and thus is with difficulty distinguished from the trees to which it adheres. Fish, especially those which inhabit fresh water, are so like in color to the weeds and stones among which they lie, that it is often very difficult to detect their presence.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system Look at their pallid, [illegible]ted and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to [illegible] who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent phy[illegible] from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-ab[illegible]. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is pr[illegible] by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited ex[illegible], producing, with unerring certainty, the following [illegible] of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by sel[illegible] ical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark [illegible] the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acq[illegible], a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, [illegible] flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in [illegible] or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never [illegible] affecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove [illegible]rily to him that he was cured of this complaint by [illegible] of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are [illegible] under any of these fearful maladies, should not [illegible] sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will [illegible] patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from [illegible] and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and [illegible] who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the [illegible]. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and being too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1868 The only way to avoid [illegible] t on is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are Dr. Gibbon does not deceive [illegible] by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

WHITE PINE.—While the public mind continues to be excited about this new Eldorado, whatever is said or written about it by eye-witnesses, must be of public value. We therefore copy the following extract from a letter written March 30th, by F. W. Johnson to the State Journal of Eugene City: "Men are returning from Hamilton and Treasure City nearly every day. The snow being so deep and the weather so unsettled and stormy that it is impossible to work in the mines or even prospect the surrounding country. Many of them return so thoroughly disgusted that they make a bee-line for the towns below, and some of them start out on foot for the Sacramento valley. I haven't the least doubt but there are a few of the richest ledges that have ever been discovered on the Pacific coast on or about Treasure Hill. But from what I can learn, there are but seven or eight ledges that will pay for working. If this should be the case, that number of ledges will not furnish employment for the twelve or fifteen thousand men that are now in and around Hamilton and Treasure City. And another question concerning the prosperity of this country, is, from the character and geology of the mining district whether these ledges will prove to be permanent, or whether they will be worked out in a few months. In conversation with a gentleman who has had several years experience in quartz mining in this State, and who has been connected with the eastern companies in developing the mineral resources of this State, informs me that judging from the peculiar granite formation he believes that all of the best mines will be worked out during the coming summer. Speaking of the richness of the Eberhardt, he said to me that he offered that company ten thousand dollars for what ore he could take out himself in one day, which proposition they refused. While it is a fact that we hear every day of ledges of fabulous richness, and the journals of California are filled with flattering accounts of these mines, I would say in all earnestness to those who have contemplated coming to these mines, 'hold—stop—stay at home.'"

In substantiation of the above, we have the testimony of Mr. C. W. Higgins, of this city, who arrived home direct from White Pine, last Friday night. He says he has had several years acquaintance with quartz mining, in Washoe, and judging of White Pine by the well known rules as to geological formations, he does not believe there is a well defined quartz ledge in the district. They have some rich rock, but it lies merely in deposits and chimneys. The casing rock is altogether of lime stone. There are a great many thousand men there more than can possibly hope to make anything at mining. The principal business is speculating and selling provisions and whisky. Very little money has, in fact, ever been taken out of the mines. Mr. Higgins is decidedly of the opinion that White Pine is a huge bilk, and that it will be [illegible] by so considered before the season is out. He advises his friends to remain at home.

[illegible] IN TROUBLE.—A Mr. Robertson, from Puget [illegible] from the finest harbor in the [illegible] to the Democratic Convention at Vancouver, Mr. Robertson, delegate, has a vote of his own and is authorized and empowered to say "aye" and "no" for nine other "sturdy Democrats." Like most other delegates, Mr. Robertson traveled toward Vancouver, via Portland, and arrived at this emporium just in the nick of time to get into the clutches of the law, yesterday. There is here abiding a former acquaintance of Mr. Robertson, who claims that the representative Puget [illegible] owes him a debt of about $217. Finding his man with pockets full of credentials it naturally enough [illegible] to the mind of the creditor that his man might also have greenbacks in his pocket; or that, being the [illegible] of nine American voters, and therefore a man to be sought after, he might find it in his power to raise the spondulics from sympathizing friends. Creditor acted upon this idea, went before Justice Bull, got a writ of arrest and had the representative man taken into the [illegible]. Representative man employed counsel—three men learned in law and up to snuff—and went before the [illegible] with a plea in bar of arrest that the statute under which the writ was issued is an unconstitutional [illegible] calculated to hinder man in the enjoyment of liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. The matter was argued pro and argued con, argued loud and argued long; but the magistrate couldn't see it in the same light as did the Puget Sounder and his counsel three. [illegible] is a Democrat of the strictest sect as the saying is, but he refused to understand the argument regarding the necessity of having those ten votes at the [illegible] instead of having them confined in a debtor's [illegible], dank and gloomy. He held the arrest good, gave the writ to an officer and went to supper. Returning, he found the officer and one of the counsel three, [illegible] wanted to know, you know," what had become of the writ of arrest. It [illegible] that legal documents [illegible], and the representative man had [illegible] it not at all in accordance with his duty [illegible] to remain in galling bondage, unless [illegible] should show him the proper warrant. The [illegible] about thusly: At the conclusion of the [illegible] before the magistrate, the representative man [illegible] between paying the debt, giving bond for [illegible] the case if judgment being rendered against him, or to be left to ruminate upon the uncertainties of human [illegible] in general, and in his case in particular. But before he had fully decided which horn to take, (no allusion [illegible]) it was found that the writ of arrest couldn't be found. Without it the officer could not, of course, hold the nine votes in custody, and the nine men took an early [illegible] opportunity to proceed on his way to the convention. A new warrant was [illegible], but up to our latest [illegible] the representative man had not been visible [illegible] eye of the officer.

[illegible] AGAINST THE STEAMER "WENAT."—In the suit of several parties against the steamer Wenat, judgment has been rendered and an order entered for the sale of the steamer and the distribution of proceeds among the creditors as follows: Preferred creditors—Alphonso [illegible], $1,181 56; N. Haun, $386 97; Ross & Eddie, [illegible]; Robert Gammill, $402 71; J. Tom, $149; James [illegible], $62 21; J. B. Harlow, $140 65; D. C. Buchanan, [illegible]; S. Sired, $102 85; A. S. Bralley, $34 06; D. Over[illegible]; J. Sandory, $10 60. It is also ordered that if there be any residue, it shall be applied to payment of [illegible], as follows: Willamette Iron Works Co., $549 60; [illegible] & Wyman, $448; E. J. Northrup & Co., $372 61; Hodge, Calef & Co., $222 83; E. Milwain, $214 26; C. H. [illegible], $191 25; E. Lownstein & Co., $143 62; W. H. [illegible], $120; Ross & Eddie, $492.

[illegible] SALEM.—The Unionist says: The Society of the [illegible] Presbyterian Church in this city, have purchased of Mr. Breyman the lot on the corner of Church and [illegible] streets, opposite the Episcopal Church. We [illegible] that it is the intention to commence at once [illegible] a church on the new purchase.....Messrs. Samuel Davis, Downey and Levi Brock started on Tuesday [illegible] last from their homes, in Yamhill county, for a [illegible] of country in Nevada known as Black Rock. These gentlemen go as prospectors for gold. Mr. Davis was in that section several years since, but found nothing. They think now that they will be successful. The whole party are well-to-do farmers, and the trip is prompted more, perhaps, by a desire to gain riches.

[illegible]. Rev. A. Myers, pastor of the Lutheran [illegible] of this city, preached, on Sunday, his last sermon [illegible] to going East on an absence of three [illegible]. He will start some day next week, overland, and will go direct to Washington City, to attend [illegible] session of the General Synod of the Lutheran [illegible], which will be held on the 13th of May. Mr. Myers informs us that while at the east, he expects to visit several States, and intends to deliver as many addresses as his time and other engagements will permit of, [illegible] and the advantages our State offers to immigrants. We do not doubt but that his mission will result in [illegible] material good to our State, and we wish him all the good fortune upon his trip that he can desire.

[illegible].—The city for a day or two past has been lively with [illegible] to the Vancouver conventions. Every [illegible], from North and East, comes to Portland first, where the State-making goes on principally. Both the [illegible] and the Democratic nominations will be, [illegible] before the delegates go to Vancouver [illegible] and Thursday mornings. The prevailing [illegible] among the politicians, yesterday, was that Mr. [illegible] will receive the Republican nomination on the [illegible] and that the Democrats will eventually [illegible] Gov. Howe, after killing off the old wheel-horse, McFadden, and the outside passenger from Walla Walla.

THE RAVAGES OF THE STORM.—We learn through the [illegible] and private messages that the storm which has been and still is prevailing, extends north and south as far as the telegraph lines reach, and that it is the severest storm of the season. It is not so cold here as some of the rains of winter, but we do not remember any three days since the fall rain set in, when the rain fell so [illegible] or in such quantities. The rivulets and [illegible] getting full and the river is already showing that it has been materially affected by these little side [illegible].

"OUR AMERICAN COUSIN."—This famous and popular [illegible] is advertised for performance at Oro Fino Theater to-night, with Mr. Wheatleigh as Asa Trenchard, Mrs. [illegible] as Florence, Pierre Thayer as Lord Dundreary, [illegible] as Kayle, and the rest of the company in appropriate characters. The performance will close with the farce of "A Model of a Wife." This will be the greatest bill of the season.

UP THE COWLITZ.—The steamer Carrie returned to this city yesterday from the Cowlitz river. She went up as far as Pumphrey's on Saturday and returned to [illegible] on Sunday, without difficulty, the river having risen to a boating stage. She brought up yesterday several [illegible], fifteen or twenty of whom are delegates to one or the other of the Vancouver Conventions.

WORKS HARD.—The telegraph line was up yesterday or rather in a condition between up and down. Messages were sent through but the line worked hard, making frequent repetitions necessary.

POSTMASTER.—Mr. Wakefield enters upon his duties this morning as postmaster. Hitherto he has acted only as special agent to take charge of the office till an [illegible] could be made.

ARRIVALS.—There were numerous arrivals, yesterday, from Salem and other points up the river, of whom several came to join the excursion per steamer Oriflamme to Puget Sound.

LAST WEEK OF MR. WHEATLEIGH'S ENGAGEMENT.—Mr. Wheatleigh's engagement at Oro Fino Theater will close, as we understand, with this week, when he will return to San Francisco.

POSTPONEMENT OF SAILING.—The sailing of the steamship Oriflamme has been postponed till next Thursday morning, in consequence, we presume, of the accident to Capt. Connor.

AURORA BAND.—The Aurora Brass Band arrived here on Saturday to accompany the Oriflamme excursionists. [illegible] seems to be fixing things up for a jolly trip.

DISCHARGING CARGO.—The bark Hattie C. Besse, began yesterday morning to discharge her cargo at the wharf, foot of Main street.

"WEST SIDE" STATEMENT.—An article relating to the [illegible] controversy, written from a "West Side" standpoint, will be found on our first page.

[illegible] ceived sufficient funds to pay about one half the orders for which advices have been received and they will be paid as nearly in that proportion as possible to presentation. It is expected that sufficient funds will be received to pay all orders when presented, in a few days.

LIVERY STABLE.—We invite attention to Mr. Taylor's advertisement of the fast horses, [illegible] of [illegible] person, etc. Mr. Taylor who thoroughly understands the [illegible] business [illegible] stables at corner Salmon and [illegible].

[illegible] the [illegible] Mr. Wheatleigh will take a benefit at Oro Fino Theater [illegible]. The play of the [illegible] named [illegible] is promised.

HOW GRANT KEPT HIS CABINET A SECRET.—The New York Evening Post says:

How well Grant kept the secret of the Cabinet is shown by a story concerning Borie, the Secretary of the Navy. Borie went to Washington to see the inauguration of the new President, but with not the slightest thought or desire of a seat in the Cabinet. He called on the new President on the afternoon of the 4th of March, and found him at work in his office. "Ah, Borie," said Grant, "have you come up to spy out the new Cabinet?" "Not at all," replied Borie. "I came only to see you sworn in as President, and have called to offer my friendly congratulations before returning home." "When do you return?" asked the President. "To-morrow in the noon train," said Borie. "Well, good bye," said the President, "make my regards to your family." Borie bowed himself out, and did not suspect that he was the "man from Pennsylvania" until the next afternoon, when the train stopped at Wilmington and heard his name read out to an eager crowd at the depot as that of the Secretary of the Navy.

A NEW VIEW OF THE SUBJECT.—The New York World, in a recent article, describes "Race" as "that accursed mistake of the Almighty." This is touching bottom at last. We have heard the Declaration accused of glittering generalities, and humanity itself denounced as having no rights. This species of reasoning reaches its proper basis when, in the profane language of the World, it ascribes to the Creator himself.—Sac. Union.

THE CHEAPEST AND BEST SOAP in the market.—Throw away your Patent Washing Machines, &c., &c. In order to more generally introduce their Soap, the Imperial Soap Co. will sell their Concentrated Soap from this date until the first of May next, at seven cents per pound. Clothes washed with this Soap, requires no rubbing, thus saving a great amount of labor, wear and tear. Washing can be done in one-half the time required by any other process. Warranted to not injure the most delicate fabric. Renders the clothes a pure white, and is equal, if not superior, to Castile soap for the hands. Parties wishing to examine or test the Soap are invited to call at the Manufactory, two doors above the Furniture Rooms of Hurgren & Shindler, First street, Portland, Oregon. The Trade supplied at liberal rates.
IMPERIAL SOAP CO.
Portland, Oregon.

It is nothing more than the truth, if people tell you that though KOHN & FISHEL are not selling off at cost they nevertheless do sell at lower rates than any other house in Oregon. Their stock of Clothing cannot be surpassed. It is undoubtedly the finest, neatest and most fashionable in the State. Every person would do well to call on Kohn & Fishel, No. 91 Front street, before purchasing elsewhere.

AN ARTICLE OF TRUE MERIT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are the most popular article in this country or Europe for Throat Diseases and Coughs, and this popularity is based upon real merit, which cannot be said of many other preparations in the market which are really but weak imitations of the genuine Troches.

DANCING ACADEMY.—Prof. Cardinell's classes are held every week day evening, and on Saturday afternoon for children. Hall in Poppleton's Building, First street.

NIGHT SCHOOL.—Mr. Fitzgerald has opened a Night School in the schoolhouse (up stairs) near the Catholic Church. For Terms See the Teacher.

CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of the merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.
BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 20, 1869.

"Let us Have Peace."

It is reported, but we prefer to believe that he report has no foundation, that the Administration is conniving at a scheme for the eizure of Cuba There is a sense of justice n the country which revolts at the many hreats which are made of violent encroachments upon our neighbors The threat of eizing Cuba is one with which the American people are not unfamiliar They remember hat in 1854 the entire Democratic party, with he aid of President Pierce, Wm. M. Marcy, his Secretary of State, Jefferson Davis, his Secretary of War, Jas. Buchanan, the American Minister at the British Court, Pierre Soule, American Minister at the Spanish Court, John Y. Mason, American Minister at Paris, boldly advocated the project of taking possession of Cuba for the purpose of reinforcing the decaying political power of the South. Among the ideas set forth in the celebrated Ostend Manifesto were the following

> That the American Union never can enjoy repose nor possess reliable security as long as Cuba is not embraced within its boundaries.
>
> That the system of emigration and labor lately organized within the limits of Cuba, and the tyranny and oppression which characterize its rulers, threaten its insurrection at any moment, which may result in direful consequences to the American people.
>
> Cuba has become to us an unceasing danger and a permanent cause of anxiety and alarm.
>
> The United States and every commercial nation would be benefitted by the transfer of the island to the former.

The following threat was added:

> We know that the President is justly inflexible in his determination to execute the neutrality laws, but should the Cubans themselves rise in rebellion, no human power could prevent the citizens of the United States and liberal men of other countries from rushing to their assistance. The present is an age of adventure, in which restless and daring spirits abound in every portion of the world!

This attempt to nationalize fillibustering and make it respectable was odious in the eyes of the American people fifteen years ago; why should it be otherwise now? The President has said, "Let us have peace," and we believe that he will carry this practice in his dealings with this question.

"The Happy Family."

THE SALEM "PRESS" ON THE PORTLAND "HERALD."

The Press of last Saturday, Beriah Brown's paper, has another article on the Herald which deals some very severe blows. Speaking of the Herald's position in relation to the railroads the Press says: "A gentleman who holds one of the most important positions in the State, informed us that he was told by a large stockholder in the west side railroad that the Herald had been employed for the sum of $2,500 to support that company in the contest with the east side company. A responsible agent of the east side company, who has had confidential relations with the Herald, said that he knew the east side company could have had the support of the Herald for the same price, but that he advised against the purchase." We quote further from the same article:

> We have also the testimony of Mr. Bellinger, which is indisputable, that he was employed by Mr. Weatherford to edit the Herald; that he closed his business in Benton county and went to Portland to enter upon the business for which he was employed, and that Weatherford broke his engagement with him at the dictation of the west side company; that at an interview with Weatherford, Hicks, the confidential manager for Weatherford, proposed in the presence of the latter, to retain him on the paper if the east side company would make up a sufficient sum to indemnify the publisher for the supposed losses it would sustain from the opposition of the west side company; and that the same Hicks subsequently wrote to Mr. Bellinger a letter threatening to expose confidential communications made to him by Bellinger if the latter published the reasons for his discharge by Weatherford. Here is a chain of circumstances which establish, beyond the possibility of a reasonable doubt, the venal character of the management of the Herald—that its influence was up for sale to the highest and best bidder. In referring to its columns for proof of its impartiality, we find innumerable dirty flings—after its own style—intended to impair the credit of the east side company; among others, the specific charge that Governor Woods owned many millions of the stock of the company—we do not recollect the precise amount—but sufficient to stamp the falsehood of the statement upon its face, to all acquainted with the facts. The intention of the lie was manifest, but its magnitude destroyed its effect. Immediately following the sale to the west side company, the entire editorial columns of the Herald was devoted to the controversy between the two companies in behalf of the west side. Since then work on the west side road has been suspended, and the Herald evidently regards its engagement as closed and is angling for another bid. The establishment, as we have before shown, was obtained by falsehood and treachery, and is run entirely upon a mercenary basis. Whatever influence it has as a professed Democratic organ, goes to the distraction and dismemberment of the party, its conductors seeking popularity for the paper by pandering to the worst passions and prejudices of the people and the prurient tastes of the rabble, by sensational political articles couched in slang phrases, the details of social scandal and all the obscene jests which can be found in the flash papers of the cities, making it a paper to be scrupulously excluded from all decent family circles and only suitable for bar room reading. The first fruits of its political influence is observable in he recent first triumph of the Republican party in local election in Portland for the last two years, nd other like results are sure to follow unless here is an immediate and radical change in the onduct of that paper. We say this more in sorow than in anger, but with a firm conviction of ts truth.

The Northwest Boundary.

Ex-Governor Smith of Vermont, President f the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, n the 22d March addressed a letter to the enate on the proposed treaty with Great Britain concerning the island of San Juan, nclosing with it two communications, one ritten by George Gibbs and the other by G. . Gardner, in which strong ground was aken against referring the title of the island arbitration. The object of these letters ras to show the Senate that the position of e group of islands to which San Juan belngs bears an important relation to the terinus of the Northern Pacific Railroad, and at Great Britain should not be permitted obtain the advantage she would get by havg full-control in those waters. Says Mr ibbs:

> So far as the Northern Pacific railroad is concerned, one of its western termini must ultimate be on Puget Sound, and it will never do to ave it entirely under British guns. More than at, the command of the Sound involves that of e Columbia river, for two days' march from its ad would carry a hostile force to the mouth of e Cowlitz, with no possible obstruction, except ch an interior line of forts as the Government ver would consent to keep up, and the populaon of the country would not justify. It is far tter even to leave the island as it stands, in int occupation, until we are ready to take it.

The danger that war would have resulted ad our Government pressed its claims on e, Northwestern boundary question, this riter holds was always a bugbear. When e original treaty was made Great Britain ould have yielded rather than fight, and at later period, if firmly met, she would have ceded from her claim to the San Juan group. he convention agreed upon by Reverdy ohnson, by which the question was to be ferred to the President of the Swiss Confderation has been discussed in the Senate cently, but with what result we are not yet prised. We venture to think that the proption will not be acceded to.

The Judiciary.

The judicial system of the United States will be reorganized under the recent act of Congress, in a manner which will add greatly to its dignity and efficiency The bill accomplishes two very important objects It will give the Supreme Court at Washington time and opportunity to get through many more cases in each year than it is now able to do, and to make an effort with some prospect of success to reduce the length of a docket which has been annually creeping further and further in advance of its judicial pursuers and it will also enable the daily business in each circuit and district to meet with more prompt and more thorough dispatch than heretofore Under the old system the slurring over of business in many districts, and also in the Supreme Court, has been unavoidable The new act creates a judge for each circuit, whose sole province it is to sit within that circuit, and to take care of this circuit work, whereby the district judge will be left free to devote his time and attention wholly to the class of cases which come properly and exclusively before him as such. The plan seems to be of that obvious character that is suggested and recommended by plain common sense It simply says that where one man has been taxed to appear in two characters and perform all the functions of each, another man shall be detailed to assume one of those characters and to take charge of the duties appurtenant to it.

Small Notes.

The Commercial ridicules Burlingame's treaty, and says it is "a bubble," and that it amounts to nothing. This is refreshing intelligence to come from a Democratic paper We thought this was the treaty which was going to let out a swarm of Chinese to overrun the United States and subvert our institutions!

The Department of Agriculture wants a block from every marble quarry in the country. The express charges upon such specimens will be paid by the Department The specimens should be six inches long, four inches wide, and one inch in thickness, and polished. A description should accompany each, stating the location of its bed, the name of the donor, and briefly any other item of interest concerning it, such as the extent of the deposits, when discovered, if now worked, &c.

Some of the opposition papers are finding fault with Grant for choosing so many of his most important Cabinet officers from the States of the Eastern seaboard. But probably Grant thought that, as the President is a Western man, and as the Vice President (who is also President of the Senate) is a Western man, and as the General of the army is a Western man, he could not very well take more than two though at first there were three members of his Cabinet from the Western States.

The New York World remarks. "In the redistribution of Congressmen after the census, next year, the East will lose and the West will gain a great number of Representatives. After 1870, the West, if united, will control the legislation of the country, and control the national conventions for nominating Presidential candidates. The West is equitably entitled to this superior weight now; but it cannot receive the benefit of its wonderful growth since 1860, until after the ten years are fully up, when, by a sudden stride or leap it will make a very great advance in its political influence."

The Postmaster General recently got off a good thing. Among the pertinacious thousands who recently swarmed about his Department were an immense number of postmasters who had gone up thither to make sure of their re-appointments. In order to lessen the host Mr. Cresswell issued an order that absence from duty would be considered evidence of incompetency, and would be followed by dismissal and the appointment of other men. Such a getting out of Washington never was seen; the P. Ms. scooted by brigades, and the Postoffice Department had peace.

Eastern journals of latest dates report that the financial condition of the Government at the close of the present fiscal year in June will undoubtedly be very favorable. Every department of business seems to feel the good effect of last November's election, and the receipts from all sources are much larger than they were last winter. The customs receipts for the fiscal year will probably reach $185,000,000 or $190,000,000, and those from internal revenue at least $150,000,000 and perhaps $160,000,000. Secretary Boutwell is on the whole very well pleased with the condition and prospects of his department.

Abana and Pharpar rivers, of Damascus, mentioned in the Scriptures, have recently been thoroughly explored by Macgregor, the famous canoe traveler. Macgregor, after going from Cairo to Suez, and exploring the Delta of the Nile, had his canoe carried by land to Beyrout, thence over Mount Lebanon and finally launched in the river Abana, on which he paddled to the plains of Damascus The rivers Abana and Pharpar, in consequence of the wild beasts, deep jungles, and savage Arabs, have heretofore been laid down inaccurately on the maps by travelers. Macgregor gives an interesting account of a "giant stone town," with stone doors, rafters and window shutters, covered with Greek inscriptions, dating before the Christian era

As an evidence of the change which a few years make in the fortunes of individuals, the St. Louis papers publish the application of Captain U. S. Grant, dated April 15, 1859, to the Court of County Commissioners, for a position as county engineer The application closes as follows "Should your honorable body see proper to give me the appointment, I pledge myself to give the office my entire attention, and shall hope to give general satisfaction." His petition was signed by the following citizens. Taylor Blow, L. A. Benoist, C. W. Ford, John How, Judge Moody, W. S. Hillyer, Colonel Reinick, G. W. Fishback, John F. Darby and fifty others, nearly all Democrats. The application was rejected And now after a lapse of only ten years, this rejected applicant occupies the highest position in the gift of the greatest nation on earth

The Unionist says From a gentleman just over from McMinnville, we learn that the water ditch projected for that part of the country is progressing finely. The citizens of that county have great expectations of what the ditch will do for them Our informant facetiously remarked that the ditch will be so dug that the farmers at the upper end of the canal will load their grain into flat boats and let it float down to the mill at McMinnville, when the gate will be closed, and the back water will return the boat to the point from whence it started

A Eugene paper says: We are informed by Mr Graves, who is making the assessment of this school district, that the taxable property will be nearly three hundred thousand dollars which at the rate of five mills, the tax levied, will produce about fifteen hundred dollars. This is more than the directors had estimated they should need, and judiciously laid out will be of great benefit to the common school cause and give us a very good school house.

THE WEST

The daily business of the gambling hells in Helena, Montana, averages $250,000 in gold dust and greenbacks

Mrs B F Moses, who committed suicide a few days ago in San Francisco, resided at one time in Victoria She married Dr Moses at that place

Forney writes to the Philadelphia Press that the competition for Territorial positions is greater at Washington than for any other places in the gift of the President

A private letter from [illegible] county, contains the following "Times over this way promise considerable life during the coming summer. Parties in San Francisco are making arrangements to build a 200 ton schooner here Capt Dodge is preparing to construct a propellor for Coquille river"

Professor Orson Pratt, having finished the translation of the book of Mormon into the Deseret alphabet, is now engaged in reading the same with a view to correct any mistakes that may have been made Immediately after the manuscript has been read and corrected, he will go to the Eastern States to have it printed

Of the Gold Hill calamity the News of that place says "The scene in and around the hoisting works of the burning mines during the early part of the day, was indescribably heartrending. A large number of the victims had families residing in Gold Hill. Wives, mothers and children gathered around the openings of the mines, tearfully inquiring for their missing relatives, and lacerating all hearts with their wails of anguish as the dreadful truth flashed upon them. We trust it may not be our fate to ever witness another such scene. Once in a lifetime is more than sufficient!"

The citizens of Fort Jones and Scott Valley, says a Yreka paper, have had an irrigating ditch surveyed from Scott river, three miles below Callahan's to Fort Jones, a distance of about thirty five miles and are now endeavoring to make a contract with Chinamen to build it. It is estimated that the Chinese will build it in six months and at a cost of about $10,000 The ditch will run along the east side of the valley and be the means of affording an opportunity to cultivate fine orchards and many articles of produce that will prove of great value.

The Yreka Journal says "As a railroad station on the proposed California and Oregon railroad, Yreka is destined to be the most important on the entire line between its junction with the Central Pacific and Portland, Oregon Our reason for believing so is based upon the vast extent of country that will find Yreka the nearest and most accessible depot for railroad communication. No doubt can be entertained but what Yreka will command the entire trade of all southeastern Oregon, from the fact that it is a little nearer to come to Yreka than to Ashland or Jacksonville, besides the desire of getting nearer to the San Francisco market." The Jacksonville people would probably "traverse" this view of the subject.

A Victoria paper says: Either we will, by the wise and timely adoption of a most liberal commercial policy, become the shop keepers for the Puget Sound, or Puget Sound will absorb our commerce. Nor is this consideration confined to foreign trade alone It has long appeared to us that unless Victoria can succeed in attaining that commercial position which Nature has evidently placed within her reach, but against which the stupidity of man has reared an insuperable artificial barrier, she will not only lose her foreign trade, but much of her domestic trade also Should Puget Sound absorb the outside trade, what is to hinder it from competing for the trade of the mainland part of our own Colony? Even now no inconsiderable part of that trade has gone to San Francisco driven away from Victoria by bad management, multiplied and vexatious restrictions and a heavy Customs Tariff

Breach of Promise Case.

Frequent mention has been made in our dispatches of the Reed-Clark breach of promise case in San Francisco. We give the following from the Sacramento Bee, from which an idea may be obtained of the nature of the case

The testimony in the Reed-Clark breach of promise case is all in, and judging therefrom, the defense has utterly failed in its attack upon the character of the plaintiff. She had to undergo a severe ordeal, but she came out of the fire spotless. The onset to blacken her character was fierce but unavailing, and the only question now is, one of veracity between the contestants. Miss Reed has sworn that Clark offered her his hand in marriage, that she accepted it; that he urged her to hasten the wedding day; and that he broke with her because of her declarations in favor of treason and against patriotism—which were exceedingly intemperate in man or woman. Clark was, as she herself shows, heart and soul devoted to the Union cause, and he ignored his promise, as she testifies, solely because of political differences of opinion between him and his betrothed, and which had just then come to his knowledge, because, as he said himself, peace in such a household and with such a woman would be an impossibility. He regretted the cause, and would rather have abandoned half his estate than abandoned her, but to marry her after such declaration was impossible. True, Clark swears he did not break off the engagement on that ground—that he did not break it off on any ground—that he never made an engagement to marry her—that he never offered her his hand, and that there was never any political difference or discussion between them, and thus point-blank contradicts all she says. Miss Reed told the straightest story, and was not embarrassed on cross examination, while Clark contradicted himself in many minor instances, and bungled his testimony generally If one of them must be believed and the other not, the woman's statement is likely to be the more generally received, and if we take one part of it we must take it all, and the question will then arise was not Clark legally, morally, socially and hymenially justified in declining to marry her upon the discovery of the political bitterness of her opinions, which were diametrically opposed to his? Was he not right in saying there could be no peace between them, on this point, and had he not a right to protect himself from a life of strife and woe? To say that a man or a woman has not a right to withdraw from a promise of marriage upon finding some new and important fact relative to the character, or trait, or opinion, or temper of his or her betrothed, is a doctrine too monstrous to be believed, but of course a jury must be the judge under the law as to whether the cause was sufficient to justify the party to break off the match. That a match may be broken off by either party without laying the one that declines liable to be mulcted in damages before a legal tribunal no one will deny, for the precedents are numerous, but is this political difference, existing as it did in both to such an intense degree, sufficient cause? The law may not cover that point, the books may be silent on the subject, but looking at the case from an impartial stand point, one would be inclined to the opinion that Clark was justified, but should he not have planted his foot upon this ground and stood there? Altogether it is an interesting case, and if there are no precedents to govern it, it may make a precedent to govern other cases

The verdict has been rendered, $10,000 for Miss Reed

A newly elected School Committee man and truant officer, feeling the importance of his office, sternly asked a little five year old, whom he found in the streets, why he was not at school "My legs are too short" was the quick reply The little fellow's toes would not touch the floor

Some of the centenarians are dropping off at last. Mrs Anna Lusk, recently died at New Market Alabama, at the age of 137 years Mr. Jeremiah Hogan deceased in Philadelphia, last week, aged 105. NEVADA.

VIRGINIA CITY, April 19.—The different shafts of the Gold Hill mines were opened on Saturday night and yesterday, but how matters stand it is impossible to determine, as efforts are made to keep the public in ignorance or from embarrassing operations. The Yellow Jacket shaft is blockaded completely, no outsiders being admitted within the building. The Gold Hill News contains all that is obtainable of operations at the works, but whether, in view of the embargo, it is all reliable cannot be stated It says no fire was discovered in the Crown Point, but a three inch pipe was being put down to the 800 foot level to inject steam if fire should be discovered. There is less than 200 feet of water in the Crown Point shaft The fire did not extend north from where originally discovered but worked south through the Kentuck and Crown Point

About midnight last night William H Williams was killed in the Yellow Jacket shaft. He had been down to the 400 foot level when, feeling sick, he desired to go up, and got in the cage and started up sinking down from faintness he was caught by the timbers, drawn from the cage, and fell 500 feet to the bottom of the shaft He was afterwards brought up. Nearly every bone in his body was broken, and his head was torn off below the chin He was a native of Cornwall, Canada, and leaves a wife and three children Several other workmen were badly asphyxiated but no serious accident reported

James Glinn, a miner in the Confederate shaft of the Old Chollar croppings, fell this morning a distance of 70 feet with the tub in which he was being hoisted, and was severely and it is feared fatally injured

The weather is decidedly wintry. The ground froze last night and has hardly thawed to day in the shade.

VICTORIA, April 19—A man named Anderson, while inducing men to desert from the ship Alaska in the harbor, was shot by the mate. It is not supposed that the wound will prove fatal The mate has been committed to await his trial

NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

The Oregon Central Railroad Controversy

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

The letter of Hon. J. H. Mitchell, published in your paper on the 14th inst., contains two or three mistakes, which, to use his own language, "truth and justice" require to be corrected. Mr. Mitchell refers to the correspondence between Senator Williams, Secretary Browning and Mr. Reed, heretofore published, as evidence of the recognition which the West Side Company had received, while he wholly fails to state the facts that their "assent" to the land grant was duly filed July [illegible], 1867, and is still on file, and the refusal of the Secretary to file the East Side Company's assent in July, 1868, for the reason that the West Side Company's "assent" had been then "accepted." That the Secretary has refused to file some maps for the West Side Company is true, but he refuses under a misapprehension of the facts, and awaiting a judicial decision. He does not take the West Side Company's papers off the file, and their rights remain untouched by the recent Act of Congress providing for a judicial determination of the matter.

The enabling Act which has passed Congress is not the legislation the East Side Company asked for. They asked for legislation in their favor directly, but they could not get it, and the bill which has passed, was what they had to accept. Instead of the "complete victory" claimed in Mr. Mitchell's dispatch a few days ago, it is the poor privilege of continuing the fight against the West Side Company a little longer. Without it, they had no earthly chance; with it, they get not a land grant, but the privilege of bringing a lawsuit.

Mr. Mitchell declares that the claims of the West Side Company were repudiated by the last Legislature. It would have been correct to have said that the claims of the West Side Company were repudiated by Ben. Holladay and the East side of the river. The people of Oregon know that the last Legislature decided the railroad question from other motives than justice. He says the Senate Committee repudiated the same company, when the report of the said committee, in his own letter, declares that "Congress ought not to decide between the two companies, because the questions involved are judicial in their nature."

The contest being judicial in its nature, and Congress having favored the East Side Company, so as to give them a standing in court, Mr. Mitchell "makes a virtue of his necessity" and declares "The East Side Company are willing, as they always have been, to let the Courts determine as between these two contending parties." Mr. Mitchell could not see how Mr. Reed could conscientiously send the dispatch in February, but much greater is our surprise to see such a statement from the Hon. J. H. Mitchell. We can't see how he can "conscientiously" make it? Does Mr. M. recollect the action he brought before Judge Upton to dissolve the West Side Company, and how the West Side lawyers met him before the Judge and demanded an immediate investigation of the matter, and how at the June term, 1868, the West Side lawyers pushed him from day to day for an investigation of the charges he had preferred against the West Side Company, and how, when the Court required him to go to trial, he backed out from an examination of the charges he had himself prepared, dismissed his case and paid the costs? Does that look like a willingness to let the Courts decide? Again: does Mr. Mitchell recollect the action which the West Side lawyers asked "leave" of Judge Boise to bring against the East Side Company? Did Mr. Mitchell then return the compliment and meet the West Side lawyers and agree to an investigation, "and let the Courts determine as between these two contending parties?" Not at all; but on the contrary, Mr. Mitchell appeared as attorney for the East Siders, and to the utmost of his ability opposed any and every chance to have the organization of the East Side Company investigated. He dared not have such an investigation. He dare not have such an investigation now; and how can he "conscientiously" say that "the East Side Company have always been willing to let the Courts determine as between these two contending parties?"

The West Side Company have always been willing, and are now willing to have the matters in dispute speedily determined by the Courts. And to secure such a judicial determination, the West Side Company will sign a stipulation at any time, submitting the corporate organization of both companies, and the legal and equitable rights to the land grant, to either the State or the U. S. Courts, for a speedy decision. They made such a proposition to the East Side Company, in writing, nearly one year ago, and it was declined.

As to the position taken before Congress by the West Side Company, and the points relied on to maintain their rights, we respectfully submit the following substance of the "Remonstrance made by S. G. Reed, Esq., against any action by Congress in the premises:" WEST SIDE

To the Honorable the Congress of the United States: The undersigned respectfully represents that Congress granted lands for a railroad to such company as the Legislature of Oregon should designate. The Legislature designated the Oregon Central Railroad Company. The company filed its assent to the act, and located, and is now constructing, the road, having already expended about $100,000. The line of their road is located on the west side of the river which divides the Willamette valley into about equal parts. After the act of designation, another company was organized under the same name, to build a road on the east side of the river.

The latter company had three months remaining within which to file an assent to the act of designation, but failed to do so, and until recently the men in charge of it publicly disclaimed all pretensions to the grant. But at the last session they applied to the Legislature to be designated as grantee, on the pretence that the former designation was made under a mistake of facts, and was therefore void. There being a majority of "east-siders" in the Legislature, the application was successful. They have sought to file an assent to the act of Congress, but the Secretary of the Interior refuses to receive it, on the ground that the time has elapsed, and that the west side company had filed in time. They now ask to have the time extended; and against such extension the undersigned, on behalf of the west side company, which he represents, respectfully remonstrates.

The basis of the second designation is that the first was nugatory, because it proceeded on the false assumption that the company was a legal corporation. The facts were, that the articles of incorporation were signed and acknowledged before a lawful officer, and filed with the Secretary of State, as the law requires. Thereupon the Legislature resolved, "That the Oregon Central Railroad Company, a corporation organized under the laws of Oregon, be and is hereby designated," &c. Now, it is true that the Secretary did afterwards permit one of the corporators to withdraw the articles, and procure other names to them, and they were not refiled until after the designation was made. The memorandum of the first filing was replaced by another of the latter date. The undersigned claims that the withdrawal of the paper from official custody was without authority of law, and did not destroy the corporate existence of the company.

But it is not necessary that the company receiving the grant should be a corporation; it only needs to be "a company organization under the laws of Oregon." Congress could as easily have said a corporation organized, as a company organized, if it had a choice between them. It cannot be successfully maintained that company means corporation, nor that laws of Oregon mean statute laws, nor that organized can only be predicated of corporations. A joint-stock company or copartnership, formed or organized in accordance with common law, as it prevails in Oregon, has all the requirements of the acts of Congress; and when the Legislature describes the company as a corporation organized, it is immaterial whether those descriptive words are true or false. It is not a jurisdictional fact, necessary to make the designation lawful; nor is it, as a descriptive fact, necessary to identify the company intended. The name was sufficient to identify the company, since no other of the name existed. To strike out this surplusage does not affect the legality or certainty of the designation, but it does sweep away the pretext for attacking the rights of the company.

Even if the grant were confined by the act of Congress to a corporation, [illegible] whose articles [illegible] filed and [illegible] it [illegible] be necessary that the organization should be complete at the time the grant took effect, namely, when the assent was filed. It was not the designation but the assent which vested the [illegible]. The designation [illegible] pointing out of the company had the necessary foundation [illegible] a company so far organized [illegible] the laws of Oregon as to be capable [illegible] the legislative enactment, and the assent had a necessary foundation, even [illegible] the most captious claim, namely, a company [illegible] organized [illegible] corporation capable of accepting the [illegible] grant [illegible].

But again, if the unauthorized act of the Secretary in temporarily parting with the custody of the articles destroyed or suspended the corporation, [illegible] whereby in technical law the organization was defective, the Legislature was in possession of all the facts and acted upon that knowledge, and their act became public law, and as such is conclusive upon all parties. If it is true of a private act of Parliament, predicated on a fact which induced its passage, that it may be set aside, or the right reclaimed by the king, if the fact was false and fraudulently imposed upon Parliament, it is not true of public law, even in England, and much less will such a doctrine apply where, as in this case, the facts are part of the public records of the country. No facts are alleged to be wanting to this corporation but such as the laws of Oregon require to be evidenced by official records, and concerning which the Legislature could not be ignorant or deceived; and it is not competent for one Legislature to reclaim, or declare void, a right acquired by a public act or resolution of a former Legislature, upon the pretense that such former Legislature were ignorant or deceived respecting such facts. If the State has changed its mind, it nevertheless is chargeable with knowledge of the condition of its own records, and of any defects in those records, and it cannot deny the truth of its own assertions, that the company was a corporation duly organized, and thus destroy the rights of those who have invested their money and bound themselves by contracts on the faith of that declaration.

For another reason the Legislature had no power to make this second designation: the time for any company to file an acceptance of the grant had expired, and the grant had lapsed. To appoint a grantee after the offer of the grant had ceased, was simply void, and left the matter exactly where it was. The Legislature which designated the west-side company had jurisdiction of the subject; the one which designated the east side company had no jurisdiction. If the former failed for want of regularity, the latter failed for want of power. Which of them should Congress aid?

The west side road is thus far built by the contributions of citizens along the line, in the full belief that, when their sacrifices shall have completed twenty miles of road, patents will issue for the land, which will insure the continuance of the work. The east side road is being built with foreign funds, raised on the company's bonds, with a full knowledge and open avowal that they had no land grant. Ought the former to be cheated of their just expectations, for the purpose of gratifying the covetous afterthought of the latter? If this company had not been designated, the stock would not have been taken. It is no answer to say they may defend their rights at law. It was not a lawsuit they were promised, but land for a railroad. To give them the lawsuit instead of the land is to delay, if not to defeat, the bounty of Congress, and punish innocent persons for their faith in the Government. The right is in the company deriving its title from the Legislature which had jurisdiction, and if a curative act is necessary, it ought to cure a defective exercise of power rather than a usurpation of power.

The undersigned therefore prays that, instead of the pending bill, an act may be passed confirming what the first Legislature had the right to do, and tried to do, and supposed they had done.

THE EAST.

Some Chinese are to establish a tea plantation in West Tennessee, and are to be followed by another party of fire-cracker manufacturers.

In a letter to a friend in New York, General Dix says: "I know no greater nuisance in the United States than speech making, and my greatest enjoyment abroad has been in my exemption from it."

Chas. A. Dana, of the New York Sun, has been warned not to publish anything more against Sheriff O'Brien, on pain of mysterious assassination by some of the villains who are his friends and associates.

The Democratic Sheriff of St. Paul recently summoned a jury of six negroes and six white men to try a negro on a criminal charge. The negroes were unanimously for conviction, the whites for acquittal.

The Methodist Church has made one step toward woman suffrage. All members of that denomination, male or female, are to be allowed to vote on the question of lay representation which comes up in all the churches this year.

A Chicago paper in criticising Senator Pomeroy's recent attempt to subsidize a railroad company with 170,000 acres of public land as a bonus for building a dam over the Kansas river says, "Old Subsidy can't rest easy unless he is pushing through some dam scheme or other."

A. Johnson in his late speech at Greenville said he would adopt Cato's advice to his son, and if nothing could be done he would repair to some Sabine cave and pray for his country. So that it is very probable that instead of being dead and gone with paralysis as was recently reported, he was merely off out of sight of his friends, hunting up the cave [illegible] mentioned [illegible] his son.

The State Register of Iowa eulogizes that State as follows: "Iowa, the only State in the Union out of debt! What an honor for our noble young commonwealth! The first State in the Republic to endow its citizens with all their rights, it now takes a still prouder stand. It withholds from no man a single right, and owes no man a dollar it does not stand ready to pay. The name Iowa is now a definition of freedom in the fullest integrity of the word. Here all men [illegible] color find equal protection [illegible] law and equal rights in making the law, and [illegible] freedom from the [illegible] of taxation and rent."

ANDREW [illegible] "LIVES."—Andrew Johnson not dead, indeed. Anything but that. Why the very day that [illegible] sentences were given [illegible] telegraph, and [illegible], there [illegible] he was himself likewise engaged in the same pleasant occupation at his home in Greeneville, Tenn. The coincidence is quite remarkable. In his speech at his reception in that city he gave the narrative of his rise through successive offices, nearly in our own words, as follows:

"I have never been ashamed of my origin [illegible] make the man. In early life I was elected Alderman, then Mayor, then to the Legislature, then to the State Senate, then [illegible] Congress [illegible] several years, then Governor of the State for [illegible] years. After which I was elected to the United States Senate, and I was there when the war broke out. [illegible] I was made Military Governor [illegible]. I was then elected Vice President of the United States, and, [illegible] Mr. Lincoln, I became, by [illegible], President [illegible]."

GRADES [illegible].—It is found by calculation [illegible] that heavy trains may descend a grade of [illegible] without attaining a greater speed than about forty or fifty miles per hour, even if allowed to run freely without applying the brakes to check the speed. The velocity due to the accelerating force of gravity soon attains its greatest limit, and remains constant during the remainder of the descent, owing to the resistance of the air.

NASBY

MR. NASBY GOES TO CONNECTICUT TO ASSIST ONE OF A JOHNSON'S SPECIAL FRIENDS, VIZ., DIXON—HE ESSAYS A SPEECH, OF WHICH ONLY A SMALL PORTION IS DELIVERED.

POST OFFIS, CONFEDRIT X ROADS,
Wich is in the State uv Kentucky,
March 8, 1869.

The Noo Hampsheer eleckshun hez gone agin us. I hed hoped that the "sober second thought" uv the people uv that stait wood bring about a change [illegible]. That the ber second thought" wasn't to be depended onto. The genooine dimokrat hez no sober thought, nor no 2d one. The sober man who thinks twice allus hez a most unaccountable habit uv votin with the ablishnists.

To Connecticut now we turn owr hopeful eyes. In Connecticut there is still potency in our old watchword, "Ameriky for white men!" and the true Connecticut dimokrat still shudders when you demand uv him sternly, "Do yoo want to marry a nigger?" Then its proximity to Noo York is a pint in our favor, for it's cheaper to transport voters from that city than to eny other stait except Noo Jersey. To yuse a military phrase which I learned when I wuz in servis in the Looeezeanner Pilikins, Connecticut is near our base uv supplies. It is too expensive to do it on Pennsylvany, and we shel never try that stait agin.

A. Johnson desired me to go to Connecticut to assist Dixon, and I spent one day at that biz—A. Johnson loves Dixon, and is pertikerlerly anxshus that he shel be in the House when he gits back into the Senit. "Then," sed he, "there'll be two uv us."

I made my way to a rooral town in his Deestrick, and arranged for a meeting to address. Ther wuz a goodly attendance, and I congratulated myself upon a pleasant and profitable season.

Strikin an attitood I commenced by remarkin that the eyes of the country wuz jist at this time a restin onto the first deestrik uv Connecticut, and that the country spectid the eleckshun uv that noble patriot James Dixon. I proposed to examine the record uv the man for whom I solisitid their votes.

At this pint the cheerman ov the meetin pulled my coat tail vilently.

"Well!" sed I angrily, for I wuz gettin on a most elokent sweat, and when I git to perspirin oratorically I don't like to be interruptid, "wat's the matter?"

"Don't menshun his record," whispered he into my left ear. "We dodge that."

"But before I enter upon that," sed I, slidin off uv that sunken rock, "I shel say a few words regardin the monstrous proposition to force nigger suffrage on to Connecticut. Doo yoo—"

Agin my coat tail wuz pulled, and anor nervous whisper:

"Don't menshun suffrage—he votid for it twice. We dodge that."

"Do yoo desire," resoomed I, somewhat staggered, for nigger suffrage is my best holt, and when deprived uv it I am at sea without chart or compass, "do yoo desire the old narrer ideas uv the silk stockened whig—"

"For the Lord's sake, don't," wuz the next whisper, "Dixon wuz whig. We dodge that."

"That is—wich is"—I struck out wildly—"do yoo desire to hev the heresies of that impracticable ablishnist Charles Sumner—"

I sposed uv course this wuz safe. Its allus prodent to abooze Sumner in a demikratic meetin, and when I hev nothin else to say, I allus do it with the happiest results. But there come a mity pull and another whisper the minit the name wuz menshuned:

"Don't say nothin about Sumner—Dixon carries a recommendatory letter from him in his pocket. We dodge that."

Dazed and demoralized I commenced agin.

"My friends, you are askt by the ablishen candidate to vote with a party wich only a few yeers ago in their midnite lodges would hev denied the liberty lovin emigrant the bal—"

"Good Lord, man," whispered this cussid chairman, pullin my cote tail till the stitches yawned; "don't you know that Dixon wuz a know nothin? We dodge that."

Not knowing precisely what to do, and feelin very much in the condishun uv a man after a hard nite's drinkin, I made anuther dive:

"Fellow citizens, the question for us to consider to nite is, shel we be taxed to pay a unconstitooshnel debt, made by an un—"

That wuz ez fur ez I got. Agin that pull—agin that infernal whisper:

"Don't say enything agin payin the debt. Some uv our Dimocrisy hold bonds. We dodge that."

"D—n your Dimocrisy!" ejackilated I, angrily. "D—d your Dimocrisy wich holds bonds. They must live in seckshuns where the Maine licker law is enforced. Shel I argoo in favor uv paying the bonds?"

"No—don't. A porshen uv our vote is agin it. We dodge that."

Feelin that there wuz one pint into wich I cood talk safely, I commenced once more:

"The Republikin party headed by that blooketed butcher, Grant"—resoomed I, feelin that he must be safe. Vain hope! Skasly wuz the words out uv my mouth when that cussed pull occurred agin:

"Tech em litely. Dixon is sleepin with Republikins, and hez called upon Grant. We dodge that."

That wuz the last feather which broke the camel's back.

"Wat is ther you don't dodge? Wat—but go to thunder and make the speech yoorself," ejakilated I, indignantly, stawkin off the platform. "I hev wrencht myself fearfully at times, and am ekal to almost eny emergency, but without preparashen, long and painful, I can't make a speech in the interest uv a genius who hez belonged to every party wich hes flourisht sence he wuz a boy, and who is spectin votes from all uv em. I mite abuse Sumner in one place and praise him in another, but I can't do both to wunst. That's a performance above me. I hev made a speech in the afternoon in favor uv free trade in Noo York, and the same evening advocated a high protective tariff in Pennsylvany, but don't ask me to do sich things in the same hall to the same awdjence! Faugh! It's too much for even a Kentucky dimokrat."

And I left in disgust. He ought to be elected, and without any uv my help, for if there's a man in Connecticut who can find suthin in his record to suit him, he must be a singler bein.

PITILESS FEMALES.—Under this caption the Stockton Independent copies the following from the El Dorado, the women's paper lately set up in San Francisco to defend the cause of woman, and which is edited, set up and controlled in all its parts by women:

"A movement is a-foot in New York to incorporate a society having for its object the regeneration of women who have strayed from the paths of virtue. A most absurd idea, and one, we venture to say, perfectly untenable. No power short of Divine can redeem a woman once becoming vicious. If senile philanthropists must do good, let them devise means to prevent them from falling, and not waste time in fussing over those who have fallen."

The Independent adds:

"No man could have penned such a sentence, and the more manly of our sex would not ever so remotely approximate a sentiment so ungenerous. Men do not claim infallibility for any of their own sex, nor do they believe that all of the tenderer, gentler and more lovable and loving are absolutely proof against temptation. * * * *

The female writer of the paragraph which we have above quoted from the rather arrogantly self-constituted and self-asserted organ, advocate and champion of the welfare of the women of California, may be right in asserting the necessity for Divine intervention in behalf of a woman who has once become vicious, but we infer that she is an incorrigible old maid or, what is worse, cursed with an incapable stick of a husband, or she would comprehend that the philosophy which dictates an attempt to aid in this work of redemption is stimulated by the highest type of virility, and is not, as she sneeringly insinuates, by any means a naturally or usual result or accompaniment of senility."

SELLING ONE'S SELF TO THE DEVIL.—Now, when a man sells eleven ounces for twelve, he makes a contract with the devil, and sells himself for the value of an ounce! And that is not all; he sells himself to as many devils as the number of times that he sells eleven ounces for twelve! I do not say that they undervalue themselves in such a sale as this. I think that they do not, ordinarily! But consider what a man will do for the sake of a few pence! How such a man can look at himself in a glass, or bear to be alone with himself, I cannot imagine. A man that preaches this system of petty frauds, in which he has trained his young men, his correspondent, all that are connected with him in business, making them lawful, covering them over so that they shall not excite alarm, and weaving nets and excuses to hide them; a man that goes on in this course from week to week, damaging people, while he enriches himself all the way through—do you suppose that such a man can enter the kingdom of God? Would it not be kind if some angel were to sound the trumpet in his ear every single day, saying, "It were better that a millstone should be hanged about thy neck, than that thou shouldst have made this profit by such means!" And will there not come a time when every penny wrung from the trembling, palsied hand of the poor widow, when every diminished loaf, when every adulterated article of food or drink or medicine, when every act of fraud or cheating, shall rise up in judgment against him, and dollar after dollar that he has gained in unlawful ways shall cry out, "Slay him! slay him!" Yet this would be a small retribution. It is the souls slain by him that will rise up in that day and say, "Thou didst teach me those damnable frauds and I am ruined!"—Beecher.

STRANGE FREAK OF A MAN OF GENIUS.—A few years ago Laurence Oliphant, who went to England as Secretary of the Japanese mission, made a deep impression on the fashionable and political world by his brilliant talents. He was comparatively unknown, but in a few months took all hearts by storm. He obtained a seat in Parliament, moved in the highest circles of society and was the universal favorite of the world of fashion. He once was seen sauntering into the Travelers' Club with two men leaning on his arms—one His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, the other His Majesty the King of Denmark! Such a future as that which lay before this handsome, clever, fascinating young diplomatist, says an English paper, any man might have envied. Suddenly, however, Laurence Oliphant was missed from his place in society—from club, and "House," and opera. Where he had gone none could tell. Even his constituents at Stirling were unable to get any accurate information concerning him, and as he made no appearance at the recent election, another man was chosen in his place. He has at last been discovered, however, in a semi-religious, semi-socialistic community at Brocton, on the borders of Lake Erie, where the once idolized star of Belgravia now follows the plow and wears homespun.

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles, it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST, but to everything of moment to the great

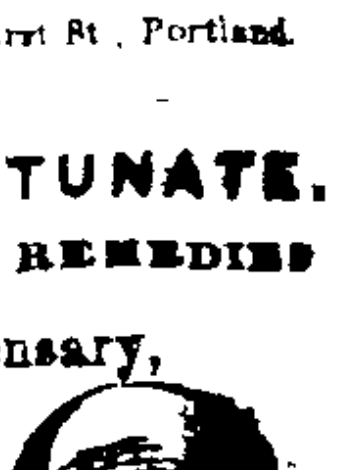
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases of years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, bloated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation, thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible and destroying maladies, so that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians in Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus sworn-to certificates dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Literary Notes

Somebody writes to a Boston paper claiming that much of the Waverly novels was written by John Scott, a brother of Sir Walter, and his wife, who lived in Quebec.

Thirty thousand copies of Crabad's "Life of Grant," a most ridiculous book, have been sold in Paris in the last few weeks, and other biographies are constantly appearing.

Eugene Sue's fortune at the time of his death it has now been ascertained, was only about sixty thousand francs. From 1844 to 1852 he had spent at least one hundred and fifty thousand francs.

The cruise of the Franklin under Farragut, in the press of Putnam, is to be published as a subscription work and will be illustrated by fifty woodcuts from the gravers of Warren, Nast, and Granville Perkins.

But one descendant of Kant, the great German philosopher, is now living, and he is a pauper in Culm, Prussia.

Eighty-six thousand copies of the first number of Appleton's Journal were disposed of on the day of publication.

The Athenæum Library at Providence has 30,000 volumes, but is only accessible to the 600 shareholders. The Press, of that city, urges the necessity of a free public library after the Boston plan.

The salaries paid to good, though not very brilliant local editors in Paris are from five to eight thousand francs a year. First class chroniqueurs receive at least twelve thousand francs a year, for which sum they have to work only four or five hours a day.

Nine Protestant churches in San Francisco pay upwards of $25,000 for quartette choirs, composed largely of persons outside of their own societies. The money thus expended is, in many instances, a help to these musical artists. And yet some of these societies are at times greatly straitened for money, and are obliged to lay heavy assessments on their sittings, and then make up deficiencies at the end of the year.

WALTHAM WATCHES.

The extensive use of these watches for the last fifteen years by Railway Conductors, Engineers and Expressmen, the most exacting of watch wearers, has thoroughly demonstrated the strength, steadiness, durability and accuracy of the Waltham Watch. To satisfy that class in all these respects, is to decide the question as to the real value of these timekeepers.

The superior organization and great extent of the Company's Works at Waltham, enable them to produce watches, COMBINING THE BEST AND LATEST IMPROVEMENTS, and at a price which renders competition futile, and those who buy any other watch, merely pay from 25 to 50 per cent. more for their watches than is necessary.

For sale by all dealers.
No watches retailed by the Company.

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their labels or productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of all consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 19, 1869.

Groping Blindly.

It irks us to be continually required to impart political and other information to the Herald and its Democratic adjutors; but as they seem to expect it we know not how to avoid the trouble. That paper observes that the President has ordered a registration of voters in Texas, preparatory to the reorganization of a State government, and inquires: "As the President has taken a solemn oath [illegible] he will support the Constitution of the United States, will the OREGONIAN be kind enough to tell what clause in the Constitution confers upon the President of the United States the right to interfere with the Constitution or government of a State?" We will inform this inquirer that the Constitution of the United States does not give the President such a right or power. Nor is the President, in taking this action in regard to Texas, "interfering with the Constitution or government of a State." Texas has no Constitution. She has no legitimate civil government, and has had none since 1861. Before she can be brought into her proper relations with the Government of the Union she must have a new Constitution and a new government. To establish these is the object of the reconstruction acts, which the President is now enforcing. This whole subject has been fully [illegible] during the last four years, and six months ago the American people recorded their final verdict upon it. Has the H[illegible] yet heard of that decision? We fear not, as it seems to be so far behind the times, —three years, at least. It is disagreeable enough to see any one at this late day groping about so blindly, with his eyes still full of the dust of "my policy."

A New Volume of Poetry.

A few days ago we announced that a volume of poems by C. H. Miller would shortly be issued in this city. The volume has made its appearance. It merits a more thorough examination than we have been able to give it, and consequently a more extensive review than we can now write. The principal piece is entitled "Joaquin," and the scene, as the reader will, of course, anticipate, is in Mexico. This piece is wrought out with considerable art. The slightest examination will show that it contains many poetic touches. It also has faults and blemishes; and he who [illegible] with a purpose of pointing out its defects, of enlarging on its inferiority of [illegible], and of [illegible] its [illegible] of [illegible], would not lack material for criticism. The [illegible], on the other hand, who would read it in a fair and [illegible] spirit, would find in it beauties which [illegible] would compel him to acknowledge [illegible] he would discover many poetic [illegible] set throughout the piece, some of them [illegible] as they should be, and others sparkling with the radiance of genuine poetry [illegible] the whole many [illegible] of a true poetic imagination, and [illegible] to admit that the author had dwelt [illegible] in the atmosphere of Helicon. Our purpose at this time is not to do [illegible] than to call attention to the fact that the [illegible] has been published. As a specimen of the art of book-making it is superior [illegible] which has yet emanated from the [illegible] and would be a credit to any [illegible]. In our advertising columns will [illegible] the publisher's announcement of the [illegible].

[illegible] Notes.

[illegible], formerly of Mexico, died [illegible] in Paris. He was once a man of note in the political and military affairs of Mexico. During several years past he has [illegible] in Europe. He was nearly 80 years old at the time of his death.

[illegible] Guard dolefully remarks that [illegible] is nothing that goes to show the [illegible] of the Nation as much as to see its citizens seeking after office." Was this what [illegible] the country down so fast [illegible] the last ten years of Democratic rule?

It is said that the Agricultural Department at Washington is overwhelmed with applications [illegible]. Congress has cut down the [illegible] for this purpose and the supply [illegible]. At last accounts Rev. Joseph [illegible] was [illegible] the Seed Depot for some onions [illegible] to [illegible] out to Oregon to make the [illegible] think him a great and in[illegible].

The two Democratic organs state that at the [illegible] in this city "the practical workings of Radical theories can be seen in all their deformity." This is the place where [illegible], kanakas, chinese, mulattoes, diggers, half-breeds and Democrats "mingle, mingle, mingle." Whatever the "Radical theory" may be on this subject, we are sure it is not nearly so bad as Democratic practice.

Speaking of the attempt of Democratic politicians to keep their party alive by opposing reconstruction and warring upon the [illegible] of Grant's Administration, the New York Herald, with much more sense than it usually exhibits, says: "Was there ever such stupidity? Is it impossible to teach the Democratic Bourbons anything? In any event, we must tell them that before the year 1872, Southern reconstruction will be [illegible] and fixed, and negro suffrage fixed, and the payment of the national debt provided for, and of the old Democratic notions of State sovereignty not a scrap will be left. The Tammany platform of 1868 will be—yea, is now—as dead as the Whig platform of 1852. We can tell them, further, that Democratic hostility to Grant's administration will only contribute to clear the field for his re-election in 1872, and that, with nothing but dead issues and dead men to fight for, the Democratic politicians and Copperhead organs [illegible] hold the party together until the next national campaign."

The Oregon City paper "chips in" on the land grant question, asserting that the OREGONIAN is far out of the way" in saying that the grant, so far as the Wallamet valley is concerned, is of very little value. It declares that,—"we are not willing to say, with our knowledge of all this domain, that all the land in the Wallamet valley has long been occupied, except a little nook or narrow strip which may be found here and there in some mountain gorge. It is a libel on the State." We are then furnished with figures which show that the area of Oregon is over 60,000,000 acres, a large portion of which is yet vacant. Of course it never occurred to Ireland that the several ranges of mountains in the State occupy about half this area. All the knowledge he has of the Wallamet valley is derived from a trip or two to Salem and Albany by the principal thoroughfares; and the knowledge of the editor of the Herald, with whom he chimes in on this subject, seems to be just about as extensive as his own. It is perfectly ridiculous to tell people who are acquainted with this valley that there is any great amount of vacant land in it.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

Washington News.

CHICAGO, April 16.—The Tribune's special says Farrand, nominated to Valparaiso, and Gen. Caldwell, nominated to Callao, will be changed. Many persons regret the removal of Ross Browne, and the Pacific coast Senators talk of fighting Howard's nomination.

The Foreign Committee has reported in favor of the nomination of Sanford as Minister to Spain, Andrews to Denmark, Curtin to Russia, Howard to China, and Nelson to Mexico. All the New York and Brooklyn Revenue nominations have been confirmed.

The treaty for the settlement of the claims with Peru is ratified.

Senator Chandler, who was present at the alleged stormy interview between Senator Ross, of Kansas, and Grant, contradicts the published accounts. He says the conversation was conducted without excitement, and the parties separated courteously.

The crowd of office seekers is terribly hungry and fierce.

It is understood that Fish, Secretary of State, don't represent the views of the Administration relative to Cuba, and has been overruled by the President.

Consul General Plumb is about leaving for Havana. He carries preliminary instructions looking to the restitution and full satisfaction of American citizens for all the injuries and insults received by them at the hands of the Spanish.

Capt. Campbell, of the brig Mary Lowell is assured that his rights will be protected. If the facts relative to the Lizzie Major are not exaggerated, the government is determined to demand reparation and apology.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Advices from St Marie of March 20th, say a French war steamer had arrived, bringing news of the sinking of the steamer Galata, one of Salnave's blockaders, by the insurgents at Aux Cayes. Many pickets are reported as having deserted Salnave.

It is stated that Sickles declines all the appointments offered him, and has retired to private life on the full pay of Colonel.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Col. Campbell, the new Governor of Wyoming Territory, qualified yesterday, and left for the Territory.

It is understood that the President will soon issue a proclamation submitting the Constitution of Virginia to the people with separate votes; first, on disfranchisement, second, on the test oath; third, on the county organization. It is understood that the vote will be ordered on the 4th Tuesday in May.

Mr. Defrees is not an applicant for the office of Second Auditor, nor for any other position under Grant.

Mr. Wilson submitted a resolution to the Senate to-day, authorising the Secretary of the Navy, with the consent of the Columbia government, to cause a thorough survey to be made for a railway or ship canal across the Isthmus of Darien, from San Miguel to the Gulf of Araba.

Mrs. Nichols, widow of the late General Nichols, has been appointed postmistress of Fort Leavenworth.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Out of 133 clerks in the Third Auditor's office there are seven who have been notified they will be removed. It is stated that Second Controller Broadhead received notice from Mr. Boutwell that the Department had no intention of dispensing with his services. Mr. Broadhead, consequently, did not tender his resignation.

At the regular Cabinet meeting to day all the members were present.

The following are the nominations made to-day: M. M. Delano, of Colorado, Consul to Foochow; Wm. H. Wadsworth, Commissioner under the treaty with Mexico; Isham Reaves, Associate Justice of Arizona; Asher B. Mauson, Secretary of the Mint at San Francisco; Jas. P. Cochrane, melter and refiner, and Jas. P. Hornisted, coiner of the Mint at San Francisco; A. H. Markham, Third Assistant Postmaster General. Revenue Collectors—Otis Perron, of Stockton, vice Davis withdrawing; A. B. Flint, Roseburg, Oregon. Registers, W. B. Butler, Aurora, Nevada, and W. R. Willis, Roseburg, Ogn. The Senate has confirmed for Assessor, H. J. Tilden, First District of California. Registers of Land Offices—Rollins, of San Francisco, and McCallum, of Sacramento; Receiver of Land Office, Hart Fellows, of Sacramento. Postmasters—Thos. B. Rickey, Salem, Ogn; J. J. Smith, Oroville, California; Miss Mary J. Falls, Vallejo; Ed. Ruggles, Supervisor, Idaho; E. Barker, Commissioners of Indian Affairs. Ministers—Robert C. Kirk, Argentine Republic; E. D. Bassett, Hayti; L. Markbrieh, Bolivia; Geo. W. Wurtz, Secretary of Legation, at Florence; Curtin, Russia; Thos. H. Nelson, Mexico. Consuls—A. S. Cotlan, of Utah, Brussels; Lemuel Lyon, of Oregon, Kanagarwa; F. Mathews, of Cal. Tangier; David Turner, of California, Lopaz; Chas. Wells, of Nevada, Guayaquil; Charles A. Sheppard, of New York, Yeddo; Chas. E. Perry, of New York, Aspinwall; S. L. Glasgow, Havre. Consuls—Gen. Freeman H. Morse, London; T. B. Vanderburg, Florence; J. M. Reed Paris. Chas. M. Dana, Appraiser of Merchandise, New York; W. W. Johnson, Revenue Collector, Montana.

CHICAGO, April 17.—The Republican's Washington special says the executive session of yesterday was long and somewhat excited. There were about one hundred and fifty confirmations and three rejections. Mr. Cameron made a vehement attack on Curtin, assailing his integrity and official acts while Governor, and declared him a trickster and unfit to represent the country abroad, not a christian nor a representative of Pennsylvania. No action was taken in the case of Sanford for the Spanish mission, nor W. A. Pile for Brazil. Motley's instructions are being prepared. He will take his departure very soon. It is understood that the instructions confirm Gen. Grant's publicly expressed views regarding the liberality of England for all property destroyed by the Alabama. Motley has had frequent conferences with Evarts. It is thought he will be given a wide range for the negotiation of future treaties. The rejections of the nominee for Postmaster of Lawrence, Kansas, by a divided vote of 30 to 8, is regarded as a triumph for Ross over Pomeroy. The former, it is reported, had high words with President Grant in regard to this and other Kansas appointments.

Gen. Tom Ewing has brought suit against Perry Fuller for money on account of lobby services. Many rich developments are expected concerning the manipulations of amendments to appropriation bills.

Mr. Brownlow denounced the nomination of Ricks as Pension Agent for Knoxville as personally obnoxious to himself. Brownlow made a bitter assault on Grant for making the appointment and called on the Senate to reject Ricks, which was done. Ricks is a strong Republican and served with credit in the Union army, and was recommended by Senator Warner and a large number of the best Union men of the South. Brownlow desires his own son in-law to be appointed.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The World's special has the authority of a Senator from the Pacific coast for the statement that an extra Congress will be called within sixty days undoubtedly, for the consideration of the annexation of Cuba, either peaceably or forcibly.

The same special says the President has been informed of a very formidable expedition preparing at New York and New Orleans with the averred design of proceeding to Cuba. It is asserted that the Government will let this expedition alone very adroitly.

Two men named Dumby—one a merchant highly esteemed—in connection with two brothers named Payne, while drinking together, became engaged in a quarrel and drew knives. A desperate conflict ensued. The elder Dumby's heart was split in two, one of the Paynes was killed, and the other Dumby and Payne were fatally wounded. Probably also a fifth person will die who was stabbed while endeavoring to separate them.

The crop prospects are generally reported as highly favorable throughout the northwest.

HAVANA, April 17.—Gen. Dulce promulgated a decree laying an embargo on the property of absent Cubans.

Advices from Mueraias to the 10th say the insurgents are sanguine of capturing Holquin, which Jose is protecting with 17,000 men. He asks for reinforcements.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE

LONDON, April 16.—In the House of Commons to-night, in accordance with previous notice, Mr Gladstone moved to go into Committee on the bill for the disestablishment of the Church.

Mr. Newgate, a conservative member from North Warwickshire, moved an amendment that the House go into Committee on the bill six months from the present date, which was equivalent to postponement.

A lively debate ensued, during which Mr Aytown, Liberal Member from Kirkaly, who voted with the majority, when the bill passed to a second reading, created a sensation by declaring his objections to the clause in the bill providing for the support of Maynooth College. A scene of great excitement followed. When it subsided the discussion was renewed, and lasted for six hours.

At the conclusion of the debate the House divided on Mr. Gladstone's motion, resulting in 355 for to 229 against, when the House formally went into a Committee on the bill, and then adjourned.

The Newmarket beneficial stakes was won by Blue Gown, who was the victor in last year's debate.

LONDON, April 17.—The debate in the House of Commons on the Church bill was resumed last evening, when Disraeli moved to omit the following clause from the bill: On and after the 1st of January, 1871, said union created by the Parliament between the Church of England and Ireland shall be dissolved and shall cease to be established by law.

Disraeli supported his proposition at length and contended that the above clause destroyed the supremacy of the crown and places the Church at disadvantage.

Sir Robert Collier and Sir Roundell Palmers spoke in opposition to the amendment.

Mr. Gladstone also spoke against it, criticising the statements made by Disraeli. He thought that notwithstanding this clause, the supremacy of the crown would continue to exist, but in an altered form. If this amendment was successful, it would absolutely destroy the bill and the union of the churches would continue, but that union must be enforced by parliamentary bonds. Disraeli replied, and admitted that his intention was to strike a mortal blow at the bill, but if the motion was accepted, the Government could still continue their disengagement policy.

The vote on the motions was 221 for and 334 against, and was received with tremendous cheers by the Liberals.

FLORENCE, April 17.—The bill for reorganising the army now before Parliament fixes the active strength at 400,000 men.

MADRID, April 17.—The National Cortes has agreed on the first article of the constitutional amendment—the substitution of the words "people of the nation" for "people of the monarchy" in the fourth section.

The Committee on the Constitution has postponed a decision as to the form of government.

B. Webster, Geo. Evans, H. L. Lambert. Third Ward, C. G. Ernest, J. K. Oak, D. G. Humphrey. The ticket is considered quite a strong one. The nomination of Mr. Hickman for Mayor is taken to be a triumph of the party of progress. He is an energetic working man and fully comprehends the wants of the city and understands what is wanted to aid its material advantage.

FROM THE NORTH.

VICTORIA, April 16.—About four thousand Indians, from all parts of the northern coast, have arrived at this place, to hold their annual feast.

Mr. James Hepburn, the well known naturalist, died here yesterday.

STATE ITEMS.

There is a place on Coast Fork in Lane county, called Slabtown.

Apple trees were in full bloom in Douglas county on the 31st March.

Councilman Nixon, and other citizens of Albany have gone to White Pine.

Dr. Alexander, Ed Merrill, and other citizens of Albany will go East by rail in June.

The Sunday Schools of Albany will have a pic nic on the 1st May, at Hackleman's grove.

J. E. Smith, of Albany, has erected a pavilion where he is training horses to fit them for circus performances.

It is reported that the steamer Shubrick will soon visit Yaquina Bay for the purpose of selecting a site for a lighthouse.

D. Froman, of Albany, is building a large grain warehouse. The building will be eighty feet long, forty feet wide and forty two feet high.

Messrs. Simmons & Kiger, of Corvallis, propose to trot their horse, "Live Oak George," for $1,000 against any horse of his age in the State.

Charles M. Farwell, aged one year ten months and twenty five days, son of Richard and Esther Ann Farwell, was accidently drowned in a slough near Boston Mills, in Linn county, last Sunday.

The steamer Echo reached Eugene on Wednesday last. Boating on the upper Wallamet has been very limited during the past winter, and the greater part of the produce is still in the hands of farmers.

The Superintendent of Schools for Linn county warns all persons not to cut timber from school lands in that county. No doubt it would be well for the authorities in other parts of the State to look after this matter.

The Medical Department of Wallamet University is successful in every particular. The fourth course of lectures will begin in November next. The number of students during the last term was eighteen, nine of whom were graduated.

The Roseburg paper says: Mr. John Pershbaker, proprietor of the Marshfield lumbering establishment, at Coos Bay, was in town this week. He reports business lively at Coos Bay. Twelve vessels were in the harbor loading when he left.

An Albany paper reports that the quarterly examination and literary exhibition given last week by the scholars of the Albany Collegiate Institute was very satisfactory and entertaining. Under the administration of President Geary, the Institute is gaining in popularity and usefulness.

The Linn County Teachers' Institute will hold its semi-annual session on the 4th, 5th and 6th days of May next. All friends of education and teachers of Linn county especially, are urgently solicited to attend. Teachers from other counties are cordially invited. Preparations will be made for the accommodation of all.

The Eugene Journal says: The running away fever among the young folks seem to have been contagious to some extent. Another couple passed through this place, from Pleasant Hill, Monday, seeking a clime where the dissenting "parients" restraint would be more limited, and where their affections will be allowed to blossom out.

The Corvallis paper learns that the residence of Rev. G. W. Roork, of Dallas, has twice been "opened," recently, during their absence. One time the intruders had fled; but on the evening of March 22d, the family returned, to find the parsonage well filled with citizens of Dallas, who spent a pleasant hour and left behind them a purse of money and other valuables.

The Unionist gives an account of an extensive manufacture of socks at the Salem woolen factory. Several persons in the State are manufacturing soap. Let a pickle manufactory be started, and Oregon will then have reached the height of prosperity which Gov. Whiteaker, with prophetic vision, foresaw. Soap, socks and pickles were the manufactures he recommended as the basis of all industrial prosperity.

Pengra has got up a new map which shows the line of the Oregon Branch from the Humboldt to Portland. This map locates the road as crossing the Cascade mountains in Douglas county, or in the northern part of Jackson county, and coming into this valley on the east side of Coast Fork, crossing the Wallamet above the junction of the two streams, and continuing down the east side of the river to Oregon City.

The Yamhill Courier says a paragraph published in the OREGONIAN a short time ago relative to L. J. S. Turney does that person great injustice. The Courier shows that the $40 which Turney was charged with embezzling was paid to him in a legitimate manner by G. W. Bennett as counsel fees. We are at a loss to know what could have caused our correspondent to make so partial and unfair a statement of the matter.

From the Eugene Journal: Quite a number of horse buyers are in this part at present buying horses for the California market. Ben Despain is buying a lot of heavy draft horses which he expects to take to California in a few weeks. John Hampton and John Moore have a fine lot that they will take down during the summer. California is certainly dependent on Oregon to some extent for good horses, if for nothing else.

It is nothing more than the truth, if people tell you that though KOHN & FISHEL are not selling off at cost, they nevertheless do sell at lower rates than any other house in Oregon. Their stock of Clothing cannot be surpassed. It is undoubtedly the finest, neatest and most fashionable in the State. Every person would do well to call on Kohn & Fishel, No. 91 Front street, before purchasing elsewhere.

MR. M. REESE, the millionaire of San Francisco, visited and patronized THE OREGON DISPENSARY on his first arrival in this city, because he heard that it was the cheapest and most elegant Drug Store on the coast. We also are furnishing the toilet articles and medicines to the guests of Mr. Holladay for the excursion trip to Victoria and Puget Sound, which is a further evidence of our increased popularity. Everybody now procures all articles in our line at THE DISPENSARY because our medicines and goods are fresh, pure and cheap.

LORYEA & KALLENBURG,
Oregon Dispensary, 73 First street.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION has filled the various offices; so have BARMAN BROS., filled their spacious store, corner Front and Morrison Streets, with the Latest Styles of Merchant Tailoring Goods, consisting of French Cassimeres, Beaver, Broadcloths and all kinds of Vestings, also a fine Stock of Ready Made Clothing, and Gents' Furnishing Goods, which they are enabled to sell lower than any other House in their city, as their Mr Isaac Barman is constantly in the San Francisco market, purchasing at the most advantageous prices, of which their customers always have the benefit. Go and see them—no trouble to show goods.
